Name	What I did after Leaving Homefield Preparatory School	What I am doing now
Robert Kendall	Prep school at St Emunds, Hindhead Sedbergh School Birmingham University, BSc in Biochemistry	Joined Peat Marwick Mitchell 7 Co (now KPMG), qualified as a Chartered Accountant, working in London and Tokyo Jarvis plc - Group Finance Director until 2004 Now retired. Keen golfer and gardener and take an interest in a wide range of sports
Walton Lindsay	I went to KCS Wimbledon and loved it. I played rugby for the colts and then 3 seasons in the 1st XV. I left after A levels in 1965. I started work in June 1966 for a Belgian oil company, and went on, via various companies, to work as an international oil trader from which I retired in 1993.	As I was extremely interested in antique furniture, I started a restoration business for something to do, and still pick and choose projects to this day. I also played guitar in various bands and even play in a trio today. I am married and have a son (44) and daughter (37) plus two grandsons. Life's been good - and interesting.
