Name	What I did after Leaving Homefield Preparatory School	What I am doing now
Gareth Jones	I went to St John's Leatherhead for five years and then took a year out to work as a Gappie at Lichfield Cathedral School with Revd' Andrew Walters, former Homefield Headmaster. After completing a PGCE I landed a job teaching English and History at The Dragon School, Oxford and stayed there for sixteen years taking on various roles including Director of Sport and Housemaster. I met my wife there and we had three children.	Since 2015, I have been Headmaster at St Andrew's Prep, Eastbourne, a prep school which feeds principally to Eastbourne College but also to Brighton College, Bede's, Benenden and Millfield to name just a few.
